

EXHIBIT 60

SAVAGE & SAVAGE
ATTORNEYS AT LAW
15 PRIOLEAU STREET
CHARLESTON, SC 29401

ANDREW J. SAVAGE III

January 12, 2007

Way Good Shu!

Commander [REDACTED]
Naval Consolidated Brig
1050 Remount Road
North Charleston, SC 29406

Dear Commander [REDACTED]:

Thank you so much for inviting us to attend the Change of Command ceremony on December 8, 2006. [REDACTED] and I really enjoyed the ceremony and we appreciate the honor of being invited.

Yesterday [REDACTED] and I had an opportunity to visit Mr. Al-Marri. He was in good spirits and it was a productive meeting. His change in attitude and his more "positive" outlook over the past several years has been quite significant. I attribute that to the professionalism of your staff and the respect that they accord him during their daily interactions. As I have stated to previous Commanders, in my thirty-five years of either working in or visiting correctional facilities, I have never met a more professional staff on the local, state, or federal level. You and your staff have much to be proud of.

Mr. Al-Marri's initial case is due to be argued before the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals on February 1. Although he did not appear apprehensive yesterday, I am concerned that as his case approaches a court date, he will become anxious. If you or your staff ever feel that I can intervene in a positive way to avoid an act of "non-compliance," I will make myself available by telephone or I will come to the Brig. Hopefully he will keep his positive attitude and intervention will not be necessary.

000443

Commander [REDACTED]
January 12, 2007
Page Two

Once again, thank you and your staff for the many courtesies extended to us yesterday. I remain, with best wishes

Sincerely,

REDACTED

Andrew J. Savage, III

AJS,III/clb

000444